Terms & Conditions

By accessing and using this website, you agree to the terms and conditions outlined below. The information provided on this website is intended for general informational purposes regarding our roofing and construction services. While we make reasonable efforts to ensure that the information presented is accurate and current, we do not guarantee that all website content will always be complete, accurate, or up to date. Actual services, pricing, materials, project timelines, and warranties are governed by the written agreement or contract between the customer and our company.

Estimates & Pricing

All estimates provided by our company are based on the information reasonably available at the time of inspection or preparation of the estimate. Final project costs may change if additional damage, concealed conditions, structural issues, or other unforeseen circumstances are discovered during the course of work. Any significant changes to the scope or cost of a project will be communicated to the customer and, when applicable, documented through a written change order or other written authorization.

Roofing Inspections & Storm Damage

Roof inspections and assessments are performed to identify visible conditions that may affect the performance, safety, or longevity of a roofing system. Because certain damage or conditions may not be visible without removing roofing materials, an inspection cannot guarantee that every existing issue will be identified. Storm-related damage, including hail and wind damage, may require further evaluation by the homeowner's insurance company or other qualified professionals.

Insurance Claims

Our company may assist customers by providing documentation, photographs, estimates, and information regarding observed property damage. However, we do not determine whether an insurance claim will be approved, denied, or paid. Insurance coverage and claim decisions are determined solely by the customer's insurance policy and insurance carrier. Customers are responsible for reviewing their insurance policy and communicating directly with their insurance provider regarding coverage and benefits.

Workmanship & Warranties

Our company stands behind the quality of our workmanship and the products we install. Applicable workmanship warranties and manufacturer warranties will be provided according to the terms of the written contract, warranty documentation, and applicable manufacturer requirements. Warranty coverage may be subject to proper installation, maintenance, product requirements, and other stated conditions. Manufacturer warranties are provided by the respective manufacturer and may differ from our company's workmanship warranty.

Change Orders & Additional Work

Construction and roofing projects can sometimes reveal conditions that were not reasonably visible before work began. Additional work that falls outside the original scope of the project may require a change order or additional authorization. Customers will be informed of material changes in scope or cost whenever reasonably possible before additional work is performed.

Payment Terms

Customers are responsible for making payments according to the payment schedule established in their written agreement. Failure to make required payments may result in delays, suspension of work, or other remedies permitted under the applicable contract and law. Any payment terms, deposits, retainage, or other financial obligations will be governed by the customer's signed agreement with the company.

Cancellation & Project Changes

Cancellation rights and procedures may vary depending on the type of project, contract, and applicable Colorado law. Customers should review their written agreement carefully for any applicable cancellation provisions. Requests to change the scope, materials, or other aspects of a project may affect the project's price and completion schedule.

Limitation of Liability

To the extent permitted by applicable law, our company shall not be responsible for losses or damages resulting from circumstances beyond our reasonable control, including severe weather, natural disasters, delays caused by third parties, material shortages, manufacturer delays, or concealed property conditions. Nothing in these terms is intended to waive or limit any rights or protections that cannot legally be waived under applicable law.

Privacy Policy

We respect the privacy of our customers and website visitors. Information submitted through our website, including names, telephone numbers, email addresses, property information, and project details, may be used to respond to inquiries, provide estimates, schedule inspections, communicate about projects, and provide requested services. Where licensing or permitting is required, work will be performed in accordance with applicable requirements. Specific licensing requirements may vary depending on the Colorado municipality or jurisdiction where the work is performed.
